Bio

I am Dr Oliver Guidetti, a cyber psychology and AI researcher with a focus on domain agnostic AI human teaming, including the intersection of generative AI and mental health. My academic background spans mathematics, psychology, and artificial intelligence, and I have collaborated with universities, government bodies, and industry partners to enhance digital resilience and cognitive performance. I am currently working with the University of Wollongong as a lecturer in Psychology.